

Baiting Tips

Just like people, rodents can have different tastes and preferences. We've found that ordinary dry pet food is an effective lure for rodents. If you or your domestic critters like something, most likely your rodents will too.

Here is a brief list of some of our staff and customer favorites:

- Sweet feed
- Trail mix
- Brownie
- Birdseed
- Citrus peel
- Oatmeal cookie
- Chicken scratch
- Goldfish crackers
- Candy corn
- Peanut Butter placed in a plastic bottle cap
- Grapes

ANYTHING goeey, oily, or salted should first be placed in a plastic bottle cap or you could end up with a big mess. Salted nuts and seeds can cause corrosion to the plates in the bottom of your unit

Don't be afraid to experiment; if the rodents turn their noses up try something else. Observe what they've been attracted to in your home or yard.
